

GALILEE GAZETTE

ISSUE
MARCH 2022

Hello to you all,

Council resolved this year to change the style of its contribution to the Tree of Knowledge Festival from one of co-ordination to direct financial and in-kind support for the groups running the events. We look forward to the weekend being very successful. Please don't hesitate to reach out to Council on behalf of your group if you require assistance with advertising, promotion or any other event preparation.

The upcoming Anzac Day services will provide an important opportunity to honour the service men and women who have defended the ideals, aspirations and freedom of this country. Further in this edition are the times and locations for the service in all of our communities. I encourage all of you to try and attend our services which in recent years have been affected by COVID protocols.

We are working through a huge backlog of road maintenance and flood damage restoration, especially on our rural roads. Please ensure that any areas of concern are reported directly to your local administration office or Senior Work Supervisor. The false promise of a wet season has left a lot of roads in a loose, dry state and with limited water supply in places, but we will work hard to ensure that running surfaces can be maintained and restored where necessary.

Cheers

Sean Dillon, Mayor

THANK YOU TO OUR VOLUNTEERS

Council would like to acknowledge the efforts of all those wonderful people in our communities that go that extra mile to volunteer their time, materials and services. Every contribution no matter how small or big helps to provide a clean and tidy community for locals and visitors and improves our facilities.

SETTLERS PARK UPDATE

A new garden bed has been constructed around the bull, cow and calf sculptures in Settlers Park.

For any further information on a matter raised in the Galilee Gazette or to obtain forms, please contact your local Council Administration Office or visit the Council website.

It also showcases locals who have established businesses within the region and the potential to grow their business right here at home.

POINT OF INTEREST

Back in September last year, Aramac's Rural Lands Officer (RLO) came across what looked to be a large wasp nest located on a Reserve near Aramac. He got in contact with the local Biosecurity Officer, he then went over to Aramac and caught one of the insects, took some photos of the nest and sent off for identification purposes. The results came back to say that this insect was a Native Bee suggested subgenus Amegilla (Asaropoda). There are a small number of species that show nesting aggregations like pictured above eg. Dawsons Burrowing Bee. These bees are common to Australia and PNG. With this discovery a couple of weeks ago Alpha's RLO did a presentation about the Native Burrowing Bees at the Shire Rural Lands Officer Group meeting in Tambo on behalf of the Barcaldine Regional Council's RLO team.

If you have any insects, weeds or plants identified contact your local Rural Lands Officer for assistance.

CLEAN UP AUSTRALIA DAY

Thank you to all community members who stepped up to clean up at the community events on Saturday 5 and Sunday 6 March 2022. Clean Up Australia Day is Australia's largest community based environmental event. The event is held on the first Sunday of March each year and it was great to see the dedicated team out making a positive difference in all our communities.

Alpha

Alpha residents did a great job cleaning around Settlers Park. Even though it was hot day and the numbers of volunteers were limited, they still managed to get a few bags of rubbish from the area.

Jericho

Jericho had a small but productive team cleaning up the Redbank Park area. Redbank was soon back to looking spick and span as it usually does. Thanks to the volunteers for coming and picking up the rubbish around the park.

Barcaldine

Volunteers met at Rob Chandler Park and divided into smaller groups to clean rubbish from the main street, parks, town streets and highways. Due to the work of dedicated community members who clean up during the entire year, the town was very tidy.

Aramac

Although it was a very hot Saturday afternoon, it was a successful event and a number of eager volunteers attended the recent Clean up Australia Day, followed by a BBQ dinner at the Aramac Recreation and Camping Ground. 17 bags of rubbish was collected in total.

Muttaborra

Thank you to the wonderful volunteers that cleaned up around the museums in Muttaborra on Sunday morning. The area now looks much tidier and we have received some great feedback already. Refreshments were then served afterwards at the Muttaborra Shop & Fuel.

Visit the website for an entry form and photographic consent and release form. Entries close at 12.00pm on Friday 1 April 2022.

PARKING ON COUNCIL FOOTPATHS

There has been an increase in trailers, horse floats, trucks, plant and machinery being parked on Council footpaths, which is not only unsafe but is an Offence under the Transport Operations (Road Use Management) Act 1995.

This is due to:

- A danger to pedestrians – illegal and unsafe parking on footpaths leaves pedestrians no choice but to walk on the road
- Footpaths and nature strips – are not designed for traffic and continual use
- Impedes access to emergency services – access by emergency service vehicles is restricted with vehicles parking on footpath or blocking driveways
- Reduced visibility – can cause obscured view of vehicles entering and exiting. Drivers and pedestrians should have a clear view of the road

Council now seeks your cooperation to keep the vehicles off the footpath and safely park them inside your property.

Any queries please do not hesitate to contact Council's Local Laws Officer on 07 4651 5600.

Take the time to visit the Goat Display at the Barcaldine Visitors Information Centre.

AUSTRALIAN ORGANISATIONS SHOULD URGENTLY ADOPT AN ENHANCED CYBERSECURITY POSTURE

Entities should follow ACSC advice and improve their resilience within a heightened threat environment.

Prioritise these actions to defend against malicious cyber activity

Organisations should prioritise the following actions to mitigate against threats posed by a range of malicious cyber actors. Many actors use common techniques such as exploiting internet-facing applications and spear phishing to compromise victim networks. Organisations should ensure they have implemented mitigations against these common techniques and are prepared to detect and respond to cyber security incidents. The following four actions will improve an organisation's resilience in the current threat environment.

1. Patch applications and devices, particularly internet-facing services. Monitor for relevant vulnerabilities and security patches, and consider bringing forward patch timeframes.
2. Implement mitigations against phishing and spear phishing attacks. Disable Microsoft Office macros by default and limit user privileges. Ensure that staff report all suspicious emails received, links clicked, or documents opened.
3. Ensure that logging and detection systems are fully updated and functioning. Prioritise internet-facing and critical network services, and ensure that logs are centrally stored.
4. Review incident response and business continuity plans. Plan responses to network compromise as well as disruptive or destructive activity such as ransomware. Ensure these plans are known to and actionable by staff, and are accessible even when systems are down.

Organisations should also review the Essential Eight and prioritise remediating any identified gaps in Essential Eight maturity. Following this, organisations should review technical details associated with any specific threats they have identified as relevant and incorporate these into monitoring and response plans.

Please visit www.cyber.gov.au for more information.
